AYER'S Sarsaparilla

cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, Catarrh, and all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood; expelling the blood-poisons from the system, enriching and renewing the blood, and restoring its vitalizing power.

During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and a weakened vitality. It is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier and blood-food that can be used.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.

"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years." W. H. MOORE.
Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public." E. F. HARRIS.
River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world." JAMES MAYNARD.
320 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Bolls, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

A Young Man in Peril.

There is a young man in this county of Wayne, State of Michigan, ss., who is going to be terribly astonished before the year 1883 is more than a month old. The law will reach out and class his throat just above the Adam's apple, and he will get such a shak' up and mopping around that he will seem to feel his heels beating a tattoo on the back of his neck.

They were in to see a lawyer yesterday—Mary Ann and her mother, Mary Ann was a little embarrassed but the old woman was calmness itself. When they spoke about a breach of promise case the lawyer asked:

"What evidence have you got?"
"Mary Ann, produce the letters," commanded the mother, and the girl took the cover off a willow basket and remarked that she thought 927 letters would do to begin on. The other 651 would be produced as soon as the case was fairly before the court.

"And outside of these letters?" queried the lawyer.

"Mary Ann, produce your diary," said the mother. "Now turn to the heading of 'Promises' and tell him how many times this marriage business was talk'd over."

"The foot'ing is 214 times," answered the girl.

"Now turn to the heading of 'Darling' and give us the number of times he has applied the term to you."

"If I have figured right the total is 9,254 times."

"I guess you counted pretty straight, for you are good in arithmetic. Now turn to the heading of 'Woodhine Cottage,' and tell us how many times he has talked of such a home for you a ter marriage."

"The foot'ing is 1,395 times."

"Very well. This lawyer wants to be sure that we've got a case. How many times has Charles Henry said he would die for you?"

"Three hundred and fifty," answered the girl, as she turned over a leaf.

"How many times has he called you an angel?"

"Over 11,000, mamma."

"How about squeeze hands?"

"Over 381,000 squeeze es."

"And kisses?"

"Nearly 17,000."

"There's our case!" said the mother, as she deposited basket and diary on the lawyer's table. "Look over the documents, and if you want anything farther I can bring in a dozen neighbors to swear to facts. We sue for $10,000 damages, and we don't settle for less than an eighty-acre farm, with buildings in good repair. We'll call again next week good day, sir!"

Why a Kerosene Lamp Bursts.

Girls, as well as boys, need to understand about kerosene explosions. A great many fatal accidents happen from trying to pour a little kerosene on the fire to make it kinder better, also by pouring oil into a lamp while it is lighted. Most persons suppose that it is the kerosene itself which explodes, and that if they are very careful to keep the oil itself from being touched by the fire or the light there will be no danger. But this is not so. If a can or a lamp is let about half full of kerosene oil the oil will dry up—that is, "evaporate"—a little and will form, by mingling with the air in the upper part, a very explosive gas. You cannot see this gas any more than you can see air. But if it is disturbed and driven out, and a blaze reaches it, there will be a terrible explosion, although the blaze did not touch the oil. There are several other liquids used in houses and workshops which will produce an explosive vapor in this way. Benzine is one; kerosene and kerosene oil are others; and naphtha, alcohol, ether, chloroform may do the same thing.

In a New York workshop lately, there was a can of benzine, or gasoline, standing on the floor. A boy sixteen years old lighted a cigarette, and threw the burning match on the floor close to the can. He did not dream there was any danger, because the liquid was corked up in the can. But there was a great explosion, and he was badly hurt. This seems very mysterious. The probability is that the can had been standing there a good while and a good deal of vapor had formed, some of which had leaked out around the stopper and was hanging in a sort of invisible cloud over and around the can; and this cloud, when the match struck it, exploded.

Suppose a girl tries to fill a kerosene lamp without first blowing it out. Of course the lamp is nearly empty or she would not care to fill it. This empty space is filled with a cloud of explosive vapor arising from the oil in the lamp. When she pushes the nozzle of the can into the lamp at the top, and begins to pour, the oil, running into the lamp, fills the empty space and pushes the cloud of explosive vapor up; the vapor is obliged to pour out over the edges of the lamp, at the top, into the room outside. Of course it strikes against the blazing wick which the girl is holding down by one side. The blaze of the wick sets the invisible cloud of vapor afire, and there is an explosion which ignites the oil and satters it over her clothes and over the furniture of the room. This is the way in which a kerosene lamp bursts. The same thing may happen when a girl pours the oil over the fire in the range or stove, if there is a cloud of explosive vapor in the upper part of the can, or if the stove is hot enough to vaporize quickly some of the oil as it falls. Remember that it is not the oil but the invisible vapor which explodes. Taking care of the oil will not protect you. There is no safety except in the rule: Never pour oil on a lighted fire or into a lighted lamp.—Christian Union.

—The Bone Farm, of Augusta, Me., gives an account of an experiment in fig-growing in that State, which it appears has proved a success. The figs were grown by Mr. F. O. Frost, of Monmouth, who calls them brown Turkey figs. They were grown on trees set in the garden, which were given the same care as one would bestow on an apple or pear tree. They yielded two crops in the year, and Mr. Frost showed at an exhibition of the State Pomological Society specimens of both crops—one fully ripe and one about a quarter grown. The trees are taken up in the fall and the dirt shaken off, when they are placed in the cellar and receive no care till again set out in the spring.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce J. D. KEHOE as a candidate for re-election to the office of Representative for Mason County in the General Assembly of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

ED. BULLETIN: Permit me briefly, through your columns, to return my sincere thanks to the many kind friends who have signed calls soliciting me to become a candidate for Representative of Mason County, and in response to said calls I announce myself a candidate, subject to the decision of the Democratic party in the primary election to be held March 10th, February 22, 1883. A. P. GOODING.

I hereby announce my candidacy for your Representative in the next Legislature. I am in favor of a return to the good old days of the whipping post, and shall make it my business, should I be elected, to see that the subject is brought prominently and squarely before that body. If there is any one thing, more than another, that should have the attention of our Representatives, it is some efficient punishment for petty stealing, &c. If something is not done at once there will not be enough chickens left in Kentucky to run a camp meeting, nor rails enough left to fence in a ten acre lot. I ask every one in favor of the whipping post to cast their vote for me, promising them that I will do all that can be done to get the bill through. GEORGE TAYLOR. Washburn, Ky., February 28, 1883.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District, ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory. Indeed, 'Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great. Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. 127d.

Street Railroad.

From present indications it seems the desire of some of our citizens for a street railway is about to be realized. A meeting of citizens and other parties interested in the construction of the road, was held last night at the council chamber. A large number of persons were present. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Kellar, one of the owners and builders of the Lexington street railway. He was confident that a road in this city would be a success if constructed, and expressed a desire to join with our citizens in the enterprise. He said a first-class street railroad could be built for about $30,000, and would be constructed, if the citizens would subscribe $20,000. First mortgage bonds on all the company's property payable in twenty years with six per cent. interest, semi-annually, would be issued for the payment of said subscription. He also stated that the road could be completed at an early day, say about the first of next June. Messrs. W. S. Frank and L. W. Robertson were appointed a committee to complete the organization of a company and were directed to arrange for another meeting at an early day.

[From another correspondent.]

"In the midst of life we are in the midst of death." On Thursday, the 15th ult., Wm. T. Yates, near Germantown, Mason County, after a painful and lingering illness of nearly four weeks passed peacefully away in his 71st year. He was a much respected citizen, a kind husband, a generous neighbor, an affectionate and indulgent father, a devout and exemplary Christian, having been a member of the M. E. Church since his boyhood. In his long and useful life he had done nothing he had cause to regret when he came to die. When asked if he was ready, he said: "Yes, I have nothing to fear. All is bright beyond." O, yes, he was ready to join the angels in that better land where sickness, sorrow, pain, or death never come. He cared not for worldly pleasures, he was patient in affliction, always trustful, prayerful, all along the pathway of life he lived in such a manner, that he had nothing to regret when his earthly career was ended. "He had no fears, all was bright beyond." Blessed thought! O what sweet consolation to his bereaved companion and loving children. Peacefully his life passed away, surrounded and cared for by his wife and children. Loving hands gently laid him to his grave in peace. In the arms of Jesus he awaits those loved ones he left behind.

"Our Father," was the inscription given, Upon the casket in which he lay, Our Father, who art in Heaven, Has called him from earth away.

Our Father, we hope to meet you Over on the evergreen shore, Yes, in the realms of bliss we'll greet you Where partings will be no more.

Economy in Using Nails.

There is often a great lack of economy shown in the use of nails for different kinds of work. Sometimes the fault is with the workman and sometimes with the workman. Ten penny and twelve penny nails are frequently employed when six pennies would subserve a more satisfactory, as well as a more economical purpose. Every workman who has occasion to use nails of various sizes, should provide a neat nail-box, having about six compartments, for as many different kinds of nails. A suitable box for holding nails may be made of thin boards, eighteen inches long by ten inches wide, with flaring sides, and a division board through the middle. It should be provided with a suitable handle in the upper part, and such a nail box will always be found more convenient than some old dish that may be turned over at a touch.

If a workman is not sufficiently interested in choosing nails of the most suitable size for a given piece of work, the intelligent boss should point out to him the advantages of using nails of a proper size. When one is nailing down flooring, for example, it will be found a matter of economy to use eight penny nails, especially if the joist or sleepers are hard timber. Whenever an eight penny nail will hold a board or stick of timber, it will be more economical to use eight penny than nails of a larger size. In many instances, when a workman is nailing on siding, the studs, posts or beams, in certain places may be unusually hard and gnarly; in all such places, a six penny nail can be driven in with facility, whereas, a ten penny nail will double up and very likely split the siding or easing before it is driven half its length.

When balloon frames are being erected, the sides of the joists are often nailed to the studs with thirty penny nails, which argues a great lack of economy, as more than an inch in length of every nail will protrude beyond the stud. By employing for this purpose ten penny nails which will barely extend through the joist and stud, and driving in two or three more, the joint will be rendered much stiffer, even by the use of a less weight of nails.

There is also a great lack of economy when more nails are used than are absolutely necessary for the well doing of the work, though nails enough to hold the work permanently together will be found a satisfactory sufficiency. And whatever may be used beyond a requisite number may be computed as so much clear loss.

The joists of a building are often placed only twelve inches apart. Workmen frequently drive two nails through every board into each joist. One-half the number of nails would serve the desired purpose quite as well, thus saving not only the nails but the time employed to drive them.

When making a picket fence, for example, two ten penny nails are frequently employed at one end of a picket, where one eight penny nail would answer quite as well, if a ribbon was nailed over all the pickets, with a few thirty penny nails reaching well into the rails or runnes of the fence. The same economy may be exercised when one is putting on battens over the joints of vertical siding. If the studs are sufficiently hard to hold a nail as well as hemlock, small nails may be employed rather than tens. And this sort of economy may be exercised in numerous kinds of mechanical operations with advantage to the work itself and with profit to the proprietor.

During the operation of building board fences, where the posts are made of hard seasoned timber, it is a common occurrence to see workmen using large ten penny and even twelve penny building nails at a great disadvantage, as such nails, in most instances, cannot be driven half their length into hard wood. Economy in time, in material, also, and in completing the work in a more substantial manner, would argue in favor of using short and strong fence nails in lieu of long and slender building nails.
